Motion for House Inquiry of Pearl Harbor Is Tabled

Committee Decides to Drop Proposal; Some Senators Critical

Washington, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The house naval committee refused today by a vote of 14 to 6 to undertake a supplementary congressional inquiry into the Pearl Harbor disaster.

The vote came on a motion to request the documentary evidence collected by the president's special commission headed by Justice Owen Roberts in studying the tragedy.

"This means no investigation at this time, by this committee," declared Representative Maas (R-Minn.), ranking Republican member of the committee. Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) declined to elaborate on the announcement beyond saying that the motion had been tabled by a 14 to 6 vote.

Sensors Critical
On the senate side, criticism arose because no reinforcements have been sent to Gen. Douglas MacArthur's forces in the Philippines.

Rep. Maas had said many members of the house naval committee wanted to inquire into the "system which apparently broke down and led to Pearl Harbor."

"We should go back of the Roberts report," Maas said. "It is a fine document as far as fixing responsibility is concerned but there are implications that our system of operating the military and navy needs to be looked into."

At the same time, Chairman May (D-Ky.) said the house military committee might study conditions at the Hawaiian outpost but would wait until President Roosevelt or the war department had time to act.

(There has been no official indication that any further action would be taken by the administration.)

Three Courses Open

"As commander-in-chief of our armed forces," May said, "the president may, if he believes the facts in the Roberts report justify it, dismiss those responsible for what happened at Pearl Harbor. He may, if he wishes, turn the report over to the war and navy departments and request court-martial. A third possibility is that the officers accused of negligence may themselves seek a court martial so they can present their side of the case if they wish."

"Talking to reporters concerning reinforcements for the Philippines, Senator Clark (D-Mo.) said he was nettled that American equipment seemed to be going in large part to Europe instead of toward the southwest Pacific.

"It must have been a great source of comfort to General MacArthur to hear Churchill announce to the House of Commons that we have plenty of bombers to send over Germany," he said with irony. "We ought to get some of these bombers out to the Philippines."

May Limit Contract Powers

Meanwhile limitation of the navy's authority to negotiate contracts without competitive bidding was proposed today by Chairman Walsh (D-Mass.) of the senate naval affairs committee as a step toward curbing excess war profits.

With colleagues questioning the cost of army fighting planes,

The War Today!

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
Wide World War Analyst
(Telegraph Special Service)

The great vote of confidence given the Churchill government by the British House of Commons today is evidence of the tremendous trust placed in the prime minister by the general public.

One might even go further and venture the view that the genius of Churchill is so outstanding that there is no other man in Britain who could fill his place.

In appraising Churchill's capabilities it must be remembered that he not only is a statesman of broad experience but also has had wide training in both the military and the naval services—a rare combination of assets. And of course one mustn't overlook his really great qualities of leadership, and his parliamentary skill in handling political crises.

Extension of the U-boat warfare in American waters, and the savagery exhibited in such attacks as that on the passenger liner Lady Hawkins which was sunk without warning with heavy loss of life, hold two vital lessons for the allies:

1. We are fighting a barbarism which, if it can get its feet on our soil, will reenact the horrors which have been perpetrated in such invaded countries as Yugoslavia, Poland and China.

2. The axis is striking hard at the very heart of the allied war power—production and transportation. Those are the two fundamentals on which we have to win this war.

Every cargo of war material which goes to the bottom of the sea in these crucial hours is a big victory for Hitler and his minions. Every ship which is sunk lessens our ability to transport supplies.

And the moral of these lessons rather obviously is that it is only by a supreme effort of production and shipbuilding—the devotion of everything we have to this end—that the allies can defeat the enemy.

Everybody knows the allies have by far the greater potential resources.

Commendation

Wichita, Kan., Jan. 29.—(AP)—The blustery fellow at the gate of the big power plant didn't have a pass so the guard wouldn't let him in.

"But I'm the president," I sign all those passes! (Nothing doing.)

"Call the superintendent! Let me talk to him!" (Against orders.)

Murray F. Gill—He really is the president of the Kansas Gas & Electric Company. Never did get in to see his plant. The guard received a letter of commendation the next day.

Ray Eliot Selected Successor to Zuppke as Illini Football Coach

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Ray Eliot, No. 1 assistant to Bob Zuppke at Illinois last fall, today was named head Illini football coach to succeed the veteran mentor who held the post for 29 seasons.

The announcement was made by L. M. Tobin, university publicity director, who said the choice was made last Tuesday by the school's athletic board and relayed to President A. C. Willard.

Trustees of the university will meet Feb. 14 and were scheduled to approve Eliot's selection. Tobin said they had been contacted within the past few days and

Churchill Is Given Vote of Confidence in Commons, 464 to 1

British Prime Minister Says Americans Want to Meet Nazis Soon

(By The Associated Press)

London, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The House of Commons, by a 464 to 1 vote, expressed confidence today in the conduct of the war by Prime Minister Churchill after he had told them the United States was determined to close with the German foe as soon as possible.

The presence of an AEF on soil of the United Kingdom—in northern Ireland—represents the desire of the United States that her ready troops should establish battle contact as soon as feasible, the prime minister said.

In a 42-minute summation for his government Churchill indicated appointment of a British counterpart to the United States chief of war production, Donald M. Nelson, and disclosed that Singapore had been steadily reinforced for a fight to the finish. These were Churchill's high spots.

The AEF in the United Kingdom—It "meets the wishes of the American people and leaders of that republic that the large mass of trained and equipped troops they have in the United States should come into contact with the enemy as close and as soon as possible."

War Production—In reference to appointment of Donald M. Nelson as chief of the War Production Board in the United States: "Some similar office, not exactly with the same scope but with similar functions."

Would Make Penal Farm Army Base

Vandalia, Ill., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Conversion of the Vandalia state penal farm into an army base will be proposed by civic and political leaders of this community to Governor Green at a meeting in Springfield next Tuesday.

Representatives of the city Chamber of Commerce will suggest that the 900 inmates of the institution be returned to county jails throughout the state and the property be turned over to the war department for a training base.

In support of the plan, A. J. Hausmann, Democrat leader and a member of the delegation, said today the penal farm had dormitory facilities for 1500 prisoners but the same facilities would be

MacArthur's Artillery Stops Japs: More Enemy Planes Downed--- Singapore's "Zero Hour" Is Near

Fight in Macassar Takes at Least 38 of Enemy's Vessels

Durable Little Army in Philippines Disrupts Japs' Plans

Washington, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Artillery of General Douglas MacArthur's durable little army in the Philippines has inflicted heavy losses and played havoc with Japanese infantry plunges at its flanks, said a war department communique today which also raised at least 38 the number of enemy ships sunk or damaged in Macassar Straits.

The news coincided with evidence that Germany had shifted a major portion of its submarine war to American waters, with the reported presence of marauding U-boats right off the coast of Texas.

"Headlong," was the word the war department used to describe the desperate and unsuccessful Japanese attacks against MacArthur on the Bataan peninsula of the island of Luzon. "Enemy losses were heavy," the communique added.

One Japanese transport in the Borneo harbor of Balikpapan was destroyed, another set on fire, and two enemy fighting planes were shot down by five American

Food Supply

Chicago, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The American army garrison fighting in the Philippines has a two-year supply of canned foods cached on the nearby island fortress Corregidor, Maj. Jesse H. White of the Quartermaster's Corps said today.

Major White, in a talk prepared for delivery before the meat section of the National Canners Association, said that for many years a five-year food supply was maintained in the fortress, but that in recent years this had been reduced to a two-year supply. "It is sufficient to sustain the entire garrison on Luzon," he said.

Major White said that canned meats were the backbone of the reserve food stores in the Philippines, Hawaii, Panama, Alaska, and newly acquired outposts.

bombers which returned sagely to their base, the department said in describing a Macassar action which apparently was the same told yesterday at Batavia.

Sydney's Claims Greater

Today's terrible losses in the straits were put even higher in a broadcast by the Sydney, Australia, radio. The spokesman there figured the total at 46 warships and transports, the latter carrying 25,000 invasion troops.

The text of the war department, No. 81 of the war, based on reports received here up to 8:30 a. m., Central Standard Time, today:

"1. Philippine theater:

"Headlong enemy infantry assaults on the right and left flanks of our troops in the Bataan peninsula were broken up by our artillery fire. Enemy losses were heavy."

"Activity of hostile aircraft was limited to reconnaissance flights."

"2. Netherlands Indies:

"A third attack by heavy American bombers on Japanese shipping in Macassar Straits resulted in the destruction of an enemy transport in Balikpapan harbor. Another transport was set on fire. Two enemy fighting planes were shot down and a third damaged. Five of our bombers participated in the attack and all returned safely to their base."

"3. There is nothing to report from other areas."

Langer Unfit for Senate, Election Committee Says

Washington, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The senate elections committee reported today that Senator Langer (R-ND) was not entitled to a senate seat because of "a continuous, contemptuous, and shameful disregard for high concepts of public duty."

"The respondent (Langer)," the committee said, "has not avoided, and cannot avoid, the consequences of the acts of gross impropriety, lawlessness, shotgun law enforcement, jail breaking, violation of oath as an attorney, rabble-rousing, civil disobedience, breach of the peace, obstruction of the administration of justice, and tampering with court officials x x x."

Asserting that the integrity of the senate was at stake, the committee asked the chamber to deny membership to the former governor of North Dakota, and recommended that action be taken by a simple majority vote.

Ends Year's Inquiry

Filing of the committee report climaxed more than a year of investigations and public hearings on 21 allegations made against Langer by a group of North Dakota petitioners.

Langer was seated "without prejudice" Jan. 3, 1941, and continues to serve with all the rights and privileges of a senator pending a final vote by the senate. The committee voted 13 to 3 against Langer Dec. 18, and then began preparation of its final report.

In it, the committee told the senate that "the charge of moral turpitude against respondent has been proven beyond all reasonable doubt."

The majority report pictured Langer as a man with "lack of veracity," having throughout his career "little use for law and order," and one who had been the recipient of "bribes."

Knox Predicts Navy Will Have Supremacy Under Expansion Plan

Washington, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Secretary of Navy Knox predicted today that the United States navy would "have supremacy of the seas all over the world" when the present naval expansion program is completed.

Knox made this forecast to reporters as he emerged from a two-hour appearance before the senate appropriations committee hearing on the record breaking $19,977,965,474 navy appropriation bill.

"I'm very proud of what our Asiatic fleet is doing," the secretary said when asked for anything new on the big battle of Macassar Straits.

Knox indicated that the subject of operations by the Pacific fleet had been discussed with senators at the closed committee session.

British Refugees in America Returning

London, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Lieut. Col. John J. Llewellyn, parliamentary secretary to the ministry of transport, informed the House of Commons today that British women and children who had been removed to the United States and Canada were returning.

He said a small number of berths were being "specially allotted every month" to bring them back through the dangers of the Atlantic.

Free French Ship Rams, Sinks U-Boat

London, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The Admiralty announced tonight that a Free French corvette had rammed and either sunk or seriously damaged a German submarine.

The corvette Roselys saw the U-boat on the surface while on convoy escort duty, swerved and rammed the submarine before it could dive. Depth bombs were dropped on the submarine as it sank, the Admiralty said.

NAVY DOUBLE WEDDING

Kankakee, Ill., Jan. 29.—Ensign A'len Berger of Kankakee, the navy's 1939 football captain who is now on duty with the Pacific fleet, was married at Honolulu to Miss Jayne Clark of Joliet, his parents announced today. It was a double wedding, Berger's brother, Ensign Karl W. Berger, was married to Miss Betty Stoebe of Miles City, Mont.

250 People Dead or Missing on Sinking of Canadian Vessel

17 Americans Among 71 Rescued; Attack by U-Boat Sudden

San Juan, Puerto Rico, Jan. 29.—(AP)—An axis submarine appeared today to have inflicted the heaviest loss of life in enemy forays off United States waters with 250 persons, including Americans, dead or missing in the torpedo sinking of the Canadian liner Lady Hawkins.

Only one boat load of 71 survivors has been accounted for from the ship which sank Jan. 19 so suddenly that even a call for help could not be sent.

Seventeen survivors are Americans, 12 from St. Joseph, Mo. The others were from Canada and British colonies.

Open Boat Epic

Washington, Jan. 29.—(AP)—A lifeboat bearing 13 American merchant seamen from a torpedoed steamer has reached a tiny South Sea island after a 31-day voyage over 2,500 miles of lonely sea—a cruel journey that ranks as an open boat epic.

The boat was one of two which set off when the 7,000-ton steamer Prusa, owned by the Lykes Brothers Steamship Line of Houston, Tex., was torpedoed 100 miles from Honolulu on Dec. 19.

The first boat, bearing the chief mate and 12 others, was picked up Dec. 27. Its occupants reported that Capt. G. H. Boy of Houston and 12 men were adrift in the second boat, headed for the Marshall Islands, and that nine men had been lost when the Prusa was torpedoed.

The navy received word from Wellington, New Zealand, last night that Capt. Boy's boat had landed Jan. 19 on Nukunau island, one of the Gilbert group, about 2,500 miles north of New Zealand.

York-Puerto Rico steamer Coamo, they were landed yesterday. The Red Cross provided clothing and other necessities.

Most of those rescued had rested aboard the ship and all but one were able to disembark without help.

Before their rescue they subsisted on slim daily rations of one sea biscuit, two tablespoons of evaporated milk and four ounces of water per person. Their morale was buoyed by prayers and hymns led by one of the missionaries aboard, Mrs. Marian Parkinson, whose husband appar-

Oil-Burning Auto May Stop Flight

McLeansboro, Ill., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Gasoline stations on all roads leading out of town were checked by southern Illinois officers today in a search for four teen-aged boys and girls who disappeared after a skating party last week-end.

Sheriff S. H. Shepard learned that the young persons drove up to a McLeansboro filling station at 5 a. m. Sunday in their 10-year-old automobile and ordered the station attendant could not recall in which direction they drove away.

However, he told Shepard, one of the group remarked the aged vehicle used lots of oil. In hopes the youngsters could be traced by additional purchases, officers di-

Teamsters' Union Offers to Lend Uncle Sam $8,000,000, No Interest

Miami, Fla., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Dan Tobin, authorized to turn $8,000,000 belonging to the Teamsters International Union over to the government as a loan with or without interest, hoped today that the gesture would start a vast flow of interest free funds into the federal treasury.

Tobin will go to Washington next week to confer with treasury officials and seek a way to transfer the union's funds to government use. As president of the large American Federation of Labor affiliate, he was voted authority by the International's executive board to draw a check for the $8,000,000 and endorse it over

Hitler Unable to Carry On Without Strategists' Help

By The Associated Press

Sweeping new gains by Russia's armies were reported today as word circulated in London that Adolf Hitler, who five weeks ago ousted Field Marshal Gen. Walther von Brauchitsch and assumed supreme command of the German army, had reached a compromise with his generals because he was "unable to carry on without the aid of experienced strategists."

In dismissing von Brauchitsch, a few days before Christmas, Hitler declared his "intuitions" had led him "to reserve to himself personally all essential decisions" in directing the war.

The British ministry of information circulated extracts of an article in the anti-axis German language newspaper Die Zeitung, published in London, declaring that the fuhrer now had changed his mind and that commands of the conservative generals "have been confirmed and they are now in charge of new armies."

Comeback in No. Africa

Amid steadily mounting reverses on the Soviet front, the German war machine appeared to be executing something of a comeback in North Africa.

Axis Claims Bengasi

British Middle East headquarters acknowledged that Gen. Erwin Rommel's Libyan counter offensive, which had driven the British back 150 miles in five days, scored a new advance to within 16 miles of British-held Bengasi, on the Gulf of Sirte.

Premier Mussolini's high command reported in a special bulletin that German and Italian troops entered the battle scarred town of Bengasi this morning.

More and more, it was becoming apparent that the British command had drawn heavily on its Libyan forces—presumably sending Australian and other Imperial troops from North Africa to bolster defenses in the far Pacific struggle—and that the axis counter offensive would be difficult to stop.

On the Russian front, soviet dispatches reported a 93 miles advance by Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's armies somewhere on the southwest (Ukraine) front, along with the recapture of 90 populated places.

Russian naval dispatches declared in a summary of far north operations that soviet submarines had been playing havoc with nazi transports attempting to supply German forces above the Arctic Circle.

The war department said United States heavy bombers carried out a third attack on the big Japanese invasion armada trapped in Macassar Strait, between Dutch East Borneo and Celebes island, destroying an enemy transport and setting another transport afire. This apparently referred to action announced by the Dutch yesterday.

A Sydney (Australian) radio broadcast said 46 Japanese warships and transports carrying 25,000 troops had already been sunk in the seven-day-old battle of Macassar Strait.

In the critical battle for Singapore, these questions were paramount.

Paramount Questions

1. Will Singapore become another "Maginot Line"—a defenseless shell when attacked from the rear?

2. Or have the British erected a secret network of death trap defenses at the lower tip of the Malay peninsula, guarding the mile wide water barrier to Singapore island from the north?

As the hour of crisis neared, it remained to be seen whether the great fortress—originally built as an "impregnable" defense bastion against attack by sea—may have become outmoded under modern conditions of aerial warfare.

Meanwhile, Japan's invasion hordes launched a new two-pronged drive into Dutch West Borneo, sharply threatening the chief city of Pontianak, south of the "White Rajah" kingdom of Sarawak.

Pontianak lies 400 miles east across the China sea from Singapore and about 500 miles north-east across the Java sea from Batavia, the Dutch Indies capital.

Japs Land at Pemangkat

An N. E. I. communique said sea-borne Japanese troops landed at Pemangkat, 85 miles north of Pontianak, while Japanese land forces struck down from Japanese occupied Kuching, the capital of Sarawak.

Official dispatches said Dutch troops were continuing stubborn resistance against other Japanese forces which landed earlier at Balikpapan, big oil port in East Borneo, and near Kendari, on Celebes.

Sunday at the Methodist Church

Last Sunday, January 25, was a very special day at the Methodist church. The morning service was conducted by the young people of the church, with Kenneth Wasson and Jacqueline Canode as organists, Ted Phillips as chairman, and John McDewitt and Gene Wasson as ushers. A fine choir of young folks of the church sang a beautiful anthem; Doris Howard, a solo and Mary Louise Biesecker and Beverly Watson, a duet. Ted Phillips conducted the devotional period, with John McDewitt reading the Scripture lesson.

The Primary department pupils under the leadership of Mrs. Margaret Patterson, Mrs. Evalyn Shoemaker and Joan Wasson, were present for the entire service of which a most outstanding feature was the promotion service, with the presentation of certificates to those promoted by the pastor. He also preached a short sermon, "A Strong Man Made Weak", which was full of good suggestions for both young and older ones.

In the evening, members of the Woman's Society of Christian Service with friends, gathered at the church for a vesper service and installation of officers for the coming year, which was conducted by the pastor. This was a candlelight service and most impressive, as the newly elected officers came one by one to the altar, then took their pledge of loyalty and received from the pastor their individual scriptural direction, followed by the charge for service. During the installation, Mrs. Reeves played soft organ music at special intervals, also sang as a solo, "O, Jesus, Thou Hast Promised".

Two Trainmen Killed in Chicago Collision

Chicago, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Two trainmen were killed and four cars derailed in a rear end collision of two Indiana Harbor Belt Line freight trains on Chicago's south side yesterday.

The dead were John Orr, 55, Melrose Park, conductor; and John Bogich, 37, Chicago, brakeman.

The engineer of the second train, August Richter, Hammond, Ind., said he saw the first train stopping as he rounded a curve but was unable to avoid striking its caboose, in which Orr and Bogich were riding.

A Thought for Today

For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves; it is the gift of God.—Ephesians 2:8.

Faith and unfaith can never be equal powers; unfaith in aught is want of faith in all.—Tennyson.

And What of Russia?

This is a ticklish subject, but it is a subject that needs dealing with. Unpleasant to think about, it is easier to gloss over than to look squarely in the face. It must be faced.

One hears it said, and more often suggested slyly than said outright, that the thing to do is to fight Japan and let the European war stew on in its own juice in the hope that Germany and Russia will exhaust one another in a no-decision bout. Many of those who were most ardent isolationists before the war now swing toward some such view. It is based on the idea that a Communist Russia, too triumphant over Germany will turn the whole continent of Europe to Communism and from that vantage point Communize the world.

Quite bluntly let us say, "It could happen." There are no sure things in war, greatest of all gambles. The results of a war can never be accurately foreseen.

However, the results of losing are so plain, so terrible, and so imminent that there can be no doubt about them. We know what imposition by military force of Hitlerism means. Balancing that all-too-definite menace against some possible later outcome leaves only one decision.

The war, in its total phases, must be supported in every way that will bring victory, including every possible assistance to Soviet Russia. The choice between a present certain evil and a possible future evil is a simple one.

It is an odd thing that the same people who assume that Britain and the United States face sweeping social changes as a result of the war also assume that Russia will emerge unchanged. It seems unlikely. Already Stalin seems to have called off the anti-religious campaign for the duration, and it may never be revived. Men returning from a war usually demand greater freedom than before, and Russia is just as likely to move toward democracy as the democracies are to move toward Communism. In Russia, Communism has already passed through three systems in which all changed but the name. The war may well bring on a fourth. There is no reason to assume that Russia will be exempt from the general expectation that no country will be quite the same.

It is because we have faith in our American institutions that we fight to uphold them against military aggression. We must have faith that we can uphold them equally against whatever condition (and no one can guess what it will be) may arise in the war's aftermath. Right now, our guiding star in the war effort must be this:

Any holding out, any reservations, in the united drive for victory is terribly likely to result in universal disaster for all.

Auto Industry Not to Blame

In some quarters there is a tendency to blame the automobile industry for whatever lack of armaments there may be—if there is a lack. It seems to some congressmen that the automobile makers should have converted their plants a long time ago to the manufacture of jeeps, tanks, shells or other materials.

The truth is that many plants are now engaged in exactly that sort of work, in whole or in part. One manufacturer has erected an entirely new plant at huge cost, without the slightest knowledge of what he is going to do with the facilities after the war is over. It was easy, and in a way proper, for the manufacturers to expect the government to take the lead, and if reports are true the government neglected to apply enough pressure.

Glib talk about the conversion of plant tools and buildings does not solve the problem. Automobile factories were made to produce automobiles, not tanks and airplane parts. A newspaper office is equipped to produce newspapers, not magazines or books. If an automobile plant is to begin making airplanes it has to get new equipment, new tools, reeducate its personnel and perhaps alter the placements of its machines and assembly lines. It also must work largely with different materials. If a newspaper plant were asked to produce books or magazines it would have to redesign its presses, add a bindery department, change its engraving facilities and familiarize its printers with a different technique.

Last August 3 R. J. Thomas, head of the C. I. O. organization of automobile workers, declared that there must be no arbitrary curtailment of automobile production until there was work available on defense projects. At a press conference on July 22 the President had declared that his administration did not intend suddenly to cut off automobile production and then wait several months to substitute defense work.

It appears, then, that the automobile manufacturers not only lacked sufficient incentive and leadership to change the order of things prior to December 7, but actually would have encountered resistance if they had made the effort that is now being made under Donald Nelson.

Roads to Victory

In all the blizzard of bucks that is being blown into the war effort, it is hard to find 20 million of them that will be used any more profitably than the 20 just advanced to five Central American countries to finish the road to Panama.

These countries, already closely tied to U. S. economy, will be all the more so when overland communication is possible. The ability to truck supplies and equipment to the Panama Canal might save that artery in some emergency when sea communication should be interrupted. It's hard to see how we can lose on this one.

And now how about the road to Alaska? The same considerations apply, and they may be even more urgent, perhaps sooner than we expect. Should the Japanese offensive in the South Pacific succeed, what more natural than for them to turn on Alaska with most of their fleet and a huge landing force. A road to Alaska might turn the tide.

News Behind THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON
(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc. Reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington, Jan. 28.—General MacArthur's losing defense of the Philippines will live forever as one of the most skillful strategic maneuvers of history. There was nothing defective in the Japanese scheme of attack. It was smart. Only thing wrong with it was that MacArthur was smarter.

The Japs have thrown 225,000 troops into Luzon. They had everything, a tank division, control of the ocean which was undisputed except feebly from the air, land-based bombers from Formosa which could be shuttled against the Philippine one day and Malay the next (63 is the largest number they sent over MacArthur in any one batch). On the last narrow mountain fighting front across Bataan peninsula they outnumber the American jungle fox 10 to 1.

In seven weeks of clever warfare, they have surrounded him, chased him, even defeated him, but they have not caught him. The corner they have him in, on Bataan, is a corner he chose. And at his back is the island fortress of Corregidor where he can expect to hole in if chased again.

How MacArthur did it can now be understood by filling in the vacant spots between the daily communiques. What happened in the Philippines is now ready for telling.

The Japs started by feinting at the far northern coastal points of Appari and Vigan. Primarily they wanted to draw MacArthur's army north, so they could slip in behind him from the sea, halfway down toward Manila at Lingayen bay, and cut him off from the capital. The fox did not bite. He sent nothing north except his few planes (one of those planes sank the first Jap battleship Haruna off Appari).

MacArthur always expected the main attack at Lingayen and was ready when the Japs tried him there two days after the initial attack in the north. With well-placed artillery along the south shore, he sank two of their 12 transports and prevented the landing. Ten days passed before they came back with 80,000 men and 80 transports. This time they tried the north shore. The bay is large, 100 miles around the shoreline. MacArthur could not cover all landing spots. Yet he repulsed them at every point except one—Agoo. This landing out of some of his northshore troops, but all fought their way back to his main line facing Agoo from the north.

Slickest of the Jap strokes came 24 hours later. They slipped possibly 20,000 men ashore from 20 transports southeast of Manila at Atimonan on Lamon Bay (landing also at Legaspi and other southern points). This meant Manila was gone. MacArthur did not have enough troops to defend it on all new fronts. The Jap plan was now clear. From all sides, with overwhelming numbers they were to drive him back into Manila where they could bomb him into surrender. With such superiority how could they fail?

The jungle fox showed them. He also had a plan just a little smarter. He drew in his forces slowly from the south (with a skillful delaying defense of narrow land strips on both sides of Laguna lake) not only to Manila, but passed it. He let the city trap go. He himself withdrew slowly from the Agoo front down to San Fernando.

The Japs moved in ready for the kill. Their southern force took Manila uncontested and slammed the lower jaw of their trap shut upon the Americans. The Japs merely scraped MacArthur's ear as he was sidestepping into the little 30-mile square area of Bataan.

There, on mountains protected from air attack by bamboo forests and underbrush (how often had he ridden horseback through these wilds in previous years planning this bitter success) he set his 155 mm. artillery upon the front and said: "Come and get me!" He had a good road on the bay side for supplies from Corregidor and the Jap tanks were useless in the wild woods. But the Japs came several times, first on the right flank, then on the center and finally on the weaker left.

Under cover of the guns of their fleet, they forced finally a landing on the west shore, expecting to cut in behind MacArthur. Again they were on the verge of victory. The attack could not get his troops over from the front lines to that side in time. Faced with retreat, he decided to attack.

Figuring the Japs must have been manning a formidable left flank attack, he hit them where he could reach them in the front, right between the eyes. There he found the amazed Jap troops loitering around waiting to march victoriously over him after their flankers had defeated him. Their confusion was so great that the Jap General Homma had to abandon his success on the left and retire to think up something else.

Homma's presence on that front was not officially noted in communiques until January 22, but he has been around from the start. Pat of his respected 14th army was in at the beginning, and all of it present for latter stages. His troops had 1905 rifles, 1914 and 1922 model machine guns (some what modernized) but what they lost in age they made up in numbers.

MacArthur's numbers never have been made public, and he has never had the use of all of them, scattered as they are in Corregidor around the other islands, and with certain units off and hiding in the Sierra Madre mountains. But the maximum unofficial guesses never ranged higher than 11,000 Americans and 100,000 scattered Philippine troops and army before the campaign started.

What most people here would like to see is a naval relief expedition to rescue or reinforce this embattled general and his fighters. Both are irreplaceable. But the question whether a large segment of the fleet can be risked so far from home bases in waters where the Japs have control of the air (remember the Prince of Wales and Repulse) is one which the navy must decide.

Press' Voice

GEN. MACARTHUR
(Chicago Tribune)

Gen. MacArthur succeeded in only a few years in making not only a first class soldier but more particularly a first class army in the Philippines. Obviously he has confidence in the Filipinos and they in him. Gen. MacArthur is one of the relatively few military leaders in recent history who has been able to forge an efficient fighting machine, strong in attack and alert in defense, from so-called native material. That speaks well for the Filipinos and for the qualities of leadership possessed by the general. He has the kind of dynamic personality which inspires courage, resolution, and initiative in his officers and men.

Gen. MacArthur has always been a leader. He was top man in his class at West Point. He was first captain of the cadet corps and his subsequent career in the army shows that the honor was a just recognition of character and competence. Stories about his personal courage are almost numberless and almost all of them are true. It is a fact, for example, that contrary to custom and even to orders he personally participated in trench raids in the last war.

In this war Gen. MacArthur has again shown that he is not only a man of courage with the gift of leadership but also a strategist of the first quality. Thus far he appears to be alone among the generals on our side to have demonstrated any real ability. The conduct of the campaign in Luzon indicates that he knew from the start what was to be expected of the enemy and how to counter it most effectively. He seems to have foreseen clearly the character of modern warfare. He did not make the mistake of attempting with insufficient forces to defend Manila. He swung his army into a position which could be held with the strength at his disposal, but he has not been content to let the initiative pass to the enemy. His defense of his weakened left flank by attacking on the right was a brilliant maneuver of which any of the great captains might have been proud.

Though Gen. MacArthur's army is outnumbered, it is safe to predict that he will hold on as long as he has ammunition to fire. The Japanese, however, have control of the air and the sea in the vicinity of Luzon and are able to receive a steady flow of reinforcements and supplies, while denying them of our army. For the long pull the chances of a successful defense of the Philippines are therefore anything but bright.

Whether Gen. MacArthur would obey an order to leave his men is a question to which he alone holds the answer, but certainly our government should make every effort to withdraw him if the position of his army becomes desperate, as it will may. Our side has need of him. We cannot afford to let him be killed or captured. On the record of this war to date, he is the one general on our side who has shown himself fit for the position of commander in chief of the united nations.

Andrew Johnson Holloway, son of Andrew Jackson and Eliza Blackburn Holloway, was born in Christian county, Illinois, January 22, 1871, and passed away at his home in Jefferson county, January 9, 1942, at the age of 70 years, 11 months, and 18 days.

He was married July 30, 1896 to Miss Nora Keen, who survives him. Surviving also are two children, Stella, Mrs. Lester Ellis, of Dixon and Harry A. of Chicago; one grandson, Joy J. Ellis, stationed at Camp Forrest, Tenn.; one sister, Mrs. Effie Donoho of Boise, Idaho, and many other relatives and friends.

In early middle age Mr. Holloway was converted to the Christian faith, and was for several years a member of New Home Baptist church. He believed implicitly in the Bible as the word of God, and during the darkest hour of his last illness, he uttered no word of doubt or fear. He was a loving husband, father and grandfather, a loyal and steadfast friend, and a kindly, helpful neighbor. He will be missed and mourned by all who knew him.

I cannot say and I will not say that he is dead. He is just away. With a cheery smile and a wave of the hand

He has wandered into an unknown land, And left us dreaming how very fair

It needs must be since he lingers there.

Think of him faring on as dear In the love of there as the love of here;

Think of him faring on, I say; He is not dead; he is just—away.

Funeral services were conducted at Mt. Zion church by Rev. F. N. Shields, a life-long friend. Interment was at Mt. Zion cemetery.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 1 pint a day. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

MOM TRIES DOUBLETALK CHAPTER XXII

SURE enough, a little before 11 Doc's rooster pulled up at the Feedery and he helped out Lolita. She was an eye-ful all right.

"Hello, Ma," she said. She came over and kissed me. "How's trade, Ma?" she said. "No complaint," I told her. "Pipe down on the Ma stuff. No need to spread the Baumer genealogy."

She gave me the wide eye. "I'm not ashamed of it," she said. "Loren knows. I've told him." "Loren, huh," I said. "Sure," she said. "We're pals." "It was you I came over to see, Mom," she said. "But the Wandos are right up my alley."

"How's that?" I asked her. "I'm cast for Pocahontas in 'The Great John Smith.' Maybe Pocahontas was a Wando."

"Maybe I'm Queen of the May," I said.

"Well, she could be, couldn't she, Loren? Pocahontas, I mean."

"I'm afraid not," he said.

"What do I care?" she said. "If I play her for a Wando, who in Hollywood's going to know the difference?"

"Who, indeed!" Doc said. You could see he was getting a lot of fun out of Carnie.

"I like Loren's Wandos," she said. "He's going to lend me some of their gadgets to wear in my hair."

"Gorgets," Doc said. "You lay off him, Carnie," I said. "He's doing all right where he is."

A CANDID camera flend popped out of cabin No. 6 and asked if she could take Miss Marquessa's picture with us two. It was okay by me. Doc wanted to duck, but Carnie wouldn't let him. While that was going on, I'd been figuring it was up to me to be firm. So I said:

"Listen, Carnie, I'm glad to see you and all that. But after this, you crawl back onto your silver screen and stay there."

Doc said, "I don't think that's quite kind or fair, Mom."

"Get this, you two," I said. "I'm Mom Baumer. Carnie's Lolita Marquessa. She can't do me any good and I'd sure be poison for her business. From the time that slick press agent of hers digs up her fussy name and ancestry, I'm out of it. She's the daughter of a thousand Spanish grandees and what does that make me? A cake of Castile soap? No, thank you."

"You're not sore, are you, Ma?" she said. "Why would I be sore?" I said. "I think you're a swell kid and you're doing a grand job. I'll always be there in the background if you need me."

"I know you will, Ma," she said. "You always were."

"If you'll excuse me," Doc said. "I'll step over and look up the gorgets."

Before he was fairly out of hearing Carnie started in. "Where did you ever get him, Ma? I think he's divine."

"You always were one for being in the current," I said. "This is Hollywood's year to go brainy. Doc probably treated you like you were intelligent, because he hasn't got any other approach. So what happens? Right away you begin to figure that you're a submerged intellectual. Look out, gal! That way ruin lies."

Carnie laughed. "The same old Ma! But you've got to admit he's awfully good-looking."

I took a gander over toward the stockade where Doc was coming out of the doorway, and by this-sent that, she was right! Why I hadn't caught it before I don't know. Maybe because I'd first seen him as the bearded wonder. As he came toward us, with that straight figure and easy swing, his serious face and steady eyes, he was a pretty swell-looking guy of his kind. Inside I was hoping that Carnie would lay off him. I knew he'd been hurt by Juddy and I didn't want him hurt again. And my Carnie was sure something to put a couple of skips in any he-man's heartbeat.

SEVERAL days later I was fumigating Cabin Three. Juddy came over with the mail.

"Open it up for me," I told her. "I've got no secrets in my young life."

When I came out she was studying over some photos. The candid camera girl had kept her word and mailed back the prints.

It was a nice job for an amateur. Of course, Carnie had made it easy for her. Doc turned out to be naturally photogenic, and I showed something in the pose of Honest Old Mom. Juddy picked the best shot and said she was going to frame it.

"Is she really Spanish, do you think, Mom?" she asked me. "What else would she be with that hair and eyes?"

"So she really came over with Loren Oliver," she said. "He must have been a scream, explaining Wandos to a movie star."

"Maybe it wasn't all Wandos." "What else would it be?"

"He's a man and she's a gal..." She gave me the laugh. "Mom, you're hipped on your star boarder."

"Ask him yourself," I said. "He's coming over for his lunch now."

"You gave her a whirl, Doc," I said. "I hope your intentions are honorable."

Doc doesn't always keep up with me. He gawped. Then he stiffened up.

"I'm afraid I don't quite follow you," he said.

"This hot, Spanish blood," I said. "I wouldn't want to have any guest of Tambay get herself into trouble through you."

Juddy giggled. Doc's polite vocabulary numbers they were to drive him back into Manila where they could bomb him into surrender. With such superiority how could they fail?

"She certainly fell for you," I said. "Didn't I see a letter in the mail yesterday with an L

Mrs. L. W. Hinkle Is Speaker for Junior Clubwomen

"The ideal woman has a perfectly balanced head on a beautifully poised neck, rising from gracefully rounded shoulders," Mrs. L. W. Hinkle told Junior clubwomen Tuesday evening, quoting an artist's version. Mrs. Hinkle addressed 33 club members at the Loveland Community House, choosing "Hair Structure" for her subject.

Because the hair is nourished by the blood, the speaker said, unattractive hair is often caused by an organic disorder, and attractive hair can only be gained by correcting the disorder. Mrs. Hinkle warned against negligence in brushing the hair daily, or as often as twice a day, using a wide-tooth comb to assure the well-groomed look all women desire.

Fashion trends in 1942, it was learned, are affected by the call for women to take over jobs never before demanded of them, which demand hair styles that will be taken care of easily, and still present an attractive and chic appearance. The basis for the achievement, Mrs. Hinkle said, is an easy-to-comb permanent, cut short, which will be appropriate for play suit, evening dress, or, if the need arises severe uniforms. Miss Jeanne Hemmen introduced the speaker.

During the business meeting, a card shower was planned for Rogene Barriage, who recently submitted to an operation at New Wesley hospital, 250 East Superior street, Chicago.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. George Curtis, Mrs. Ray Kline, Mrs. Ralph Schroeder, and Miss Ruth Crombie. The next meeting is scheduled for Feb. 10.

COLLEGE SINGERS TO APPEAR HERE, FRIDAY EVENING

Members of the Wheaton College Men's Glee club will present a sacred concert at Bethel United Evangelical church, corner of North Galena avenue and Morgan street, at 7:45 o'clock Friday evening.

Having covered nearly every state in the Union during their tours, the choral group has established a reputation for fine music from California to Maine. Indicative of comments received, the Winnipeg Tribune stated that: "The choir's personnel of 32 members have apparently been trained in the pure art of giving beauty of expression to words."

The club is directed by Prof. H. William Nordin, who has built an enviable record as a director. While touring Europe in 1923, Professor Nordin was made a knight of the Order of Vasa by the King of Sweden in recognition of his choral work.

The unit's personnel represents 18 states and one foreign country. In addition to a full concert program of sacred music, the singers also present numbers by brass and vocal quartets and various selections.

BRIDGE PLAYERS ARE HOSTESSES

Once each month, members of a bridge club invite their husbands to join them for dinner. Last evening, the Orval Gearharts were hosts, inviting their guests to Rice's tea room for dinner, with contract games following at the Gearhart home.

Fortunate in the card games were Mrs. Grover W. Gehant, Mrs. A. H. Lancaster, Mr. Lancaster, Harold Emmert, and Carl Buchner. The Buchners are to entertain at the February party.

DIEHL-KROH

Miss Mary Kroh, daughter of the W. E. Stackpoles of Polo, and Gerald Diehl, son of Mrs. Beulah Diehl of Aurora, were married on Sunday, Jan. 18, in Aurora. The Rev. Paul G. Dibble, pastor of the Fourth Street Methodist church, read the single ring service at 3 o'clock at his home.

The couple chose to be unattended. The bride wore a tailored suit of dark blue, with white trim.

Mrs. Diehl was graduated from Polo Community high school with the class of 1939, and has been employed at Reck's Variety store in Polo for the past two years. The bridegroom, a Polo high school graduate with the class of '35, is now employed at the Barber Greene Manufacturing company in Aurora, and the couple are making their home in that city.

The picnic is to be held some time in February.

Superintendents Opposed to Six- Day School Week

Make No Protest Against Lengthening of Day; Discuss Problems

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 29.—(AP)—County school superintendents of the state were committed today to a policy of discouraging attempts to inaugurate the six-day week for elementary school pupils.

Opposition to lengthening the school week by instituting Saturday classes, to permit closing of schools a month earlier than usual this spring so older students could be released for farm and industrial work, was voted at a meeting of the county school heads called by John A. Wieland, state superintendent of public instruction, to discuss wartime school problems.

The conference, however, did not go on record against operation of high schools on Saturdays, or lengthening of school days in order to compensate for earlier closing of schools in the spring.

Some of the county officials warned against "hysteria" in connection with the present conflict, and urged that the advantages of changing school routine be weighed before any readjustments are made.

Teacher Picture Cloudy
The teacher shortage picture was left cloudy after lengthy discussion in which a number of county school leaders reported that there were not acceptable teachers available in their territories to fill vacancies. Several said they had applications on file from unemployed or retired teachers whose availability or specific positions was doubtful.

C. H. Engle, secretary of the State Teachers' Examining Board, said there was a growing shortage of qualified instructors in commercial subjects. Many such specialist teachers, he said, had abandoned their profession to take positions in industry which offered better salaries.

To Maintain Standards
Engle said, however, there was no shortage of available teachers for primary schools. He added that approximately 500 such teachers had written to his office recently seeking employment. Many of these were retired and not versed in recent developments in educational methods, he said.

Both Engle and Wieland said they saw no need for lowering standards for certification of teachers or the educational requirements for public school courses in view of present circumstances.

After general discussion of school problems, Wieland announced that he would name a state committee to promote more valuable wartime services by the schools. He suggested that such groups also be established in each county.

THE BRIDGES INQUIRY

A resolution has been introduced in the house calling for an investigation of the unsuccessful efforts to deport Harry Bridges. Congressman Ford of California, in proposing the inquiry, said he had heard rumors that powerful influences in the administration had been protecting Bridges and that, in this connection, it was being said that evidence damaging to Bridges had been destroyed.

There surely is need for such an investigation. Bridges, an alien, has been the leader of some of the most violent and destructive strikes which this nation has ever seen. He kept the shipping industry on the west coast in a turmoil for years. He has seldom departed from the communist party line. The only time the administration cracked down on him to any effect was in the period when Mr. Roosevelt was at odds with Stalin. It was at that time that Attorney General Jackson instituted the proceedings which led to Judge Sears' deportation order. Now that the Russians are again in favor in Washington a board of appeals has reversed the order and Bridges is reported to be on his way to naturalization.

The facts surely warrant the suspicion that the Bridges case was not handled on its merits under the law, but rather that favoritism has been employed to gratify the Russian communists. An investigation of the circumstances would serve to confirm or dispel suspicions which Mr. Ford holds in common with large numbers of his countrymen.

The country wants and is entitled to know who if any one, in Washington has been fronting for Bridges, and why. Mr. Dies has found hundreds of communists on the government pay rolls. Is the handling of the Bridges case their work?—Exchange.

Rules, Militations for Dollar-a-Year Men Promulgated

Washington, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Chairman Donald Nelson said that if strict new requirements he has laid down for the employment of dollar-a-year men by the War Production Board are not satisfied in the case of any such man, "he will be asked to leave."

Nelson told of his new rules in an appearance before the senate defense investigating committee, which has criticized the dollar-a-year government employment of high-salaried men lent by private companies.

Administration forces in the senate agreed to compromise a provision of a pending war powers bill so that a section of the Hatch anti-politics act barring certain political activities by government officials would continue to apply to dollar-a-year men.

Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), floor manager for the measure, announced he would offer a substitute for an amendment by Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) and in it would make clear that dollar-a-year men could not take part in political campaigns.

Rules Imposed

Nelson testified he had imposed these rules and limitations governing employment of dollar-a-year men:

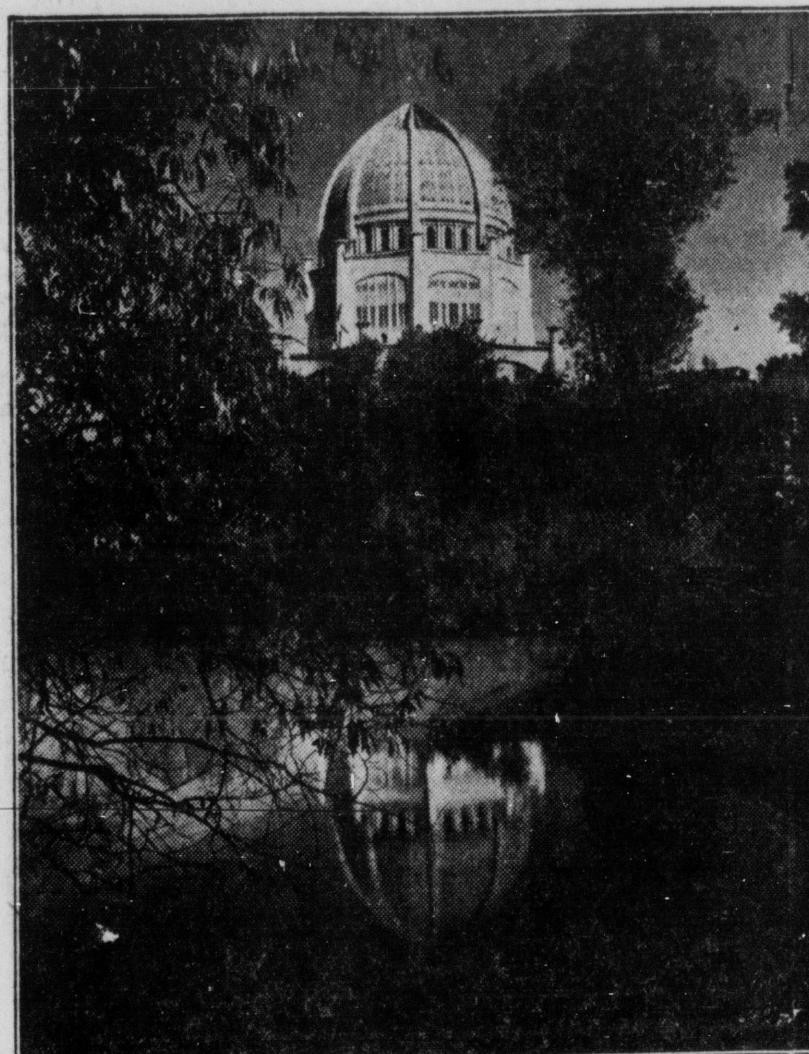

1. No person shall be appointed on a dollar-a-year basis unless he is a man of outstanding business or technical ability, of unimpeachable integrity, and especially qualified for the work for which he is chosen.
2. No dollar-a-year man shall be appointed in any position if, with reasonable effort, a man equally qualified can be found and induced to come here to fill such position on a regular government salary basis.
3. No person shall be employed in any position in which he will make decisions directly affecting the affairs of his own company.
4. No appointment shall be made except after a thorough investigation of the proposed appointee by one of the investigatory agencies of the government.

UNEMPLOYMENT CLAIMS

Chicago, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The Social Security Board reported Illinois unemployment claims of $6,094,000 for the last three months of 1941 were lower than in the corresponding period of the previous year but indicated a seasonal rise compared with earlier months of 1941.

Baha'i House of Worship

Baha'is of the world are completing the exterior ornamentation of an unusual House of Worship, pictured above, which is being erected on the shores of Lake Michigan in Wilmette, Ill. Thousands of visitors from all parts of the world are being shown through this distinctive building, attracted by its unusual design.

The House of Worship is a nine-sided structure designed by the late Louis Bourgeois. Each side of the first story forms a circular arc with a door in the center giving the appearance of welcoming arms extended to all peoples. Above the gallery section, the clerestory and the dome are also nine-sided but with ribs rising from midway of the first-story sides.

The outer ornamentation is remarkable, not only in design but in the medium being used. It employs a new plastic medium, a combination of quartz crystals and cement poured into hand-carved moulds. This medium permits a design as intricate and delicate as lace as well as a surface more enduring than rock.

The perforated dome, one of the five largest in the world, embraces an inner glass dome. From the interior, this glass dome will be concealed by an ornamental dome.

The Temple's unique design combines adaptations of many styles of architecture including Christian gothic, Egyptian, Byzantine, Arabic and Renaissance. Symbols of all religious systems have been woven into the intricate decorative motif. This design is symbolic of the basic principle behind the building and the faith for which it stands, namely, the unity and oneness of the human race, its races, nations, religions, creeds and classes.

AVENUES RENAMED
Los Angeles, Calif., Jan. 29.—(AP)—Junkers and Fokker avenues, appropriately enough, were sandwiched safely in between Kittyhawk and Interceptor.

But the city council has decided to rename the outcast airport thoroughfares, anyway.
Henceforth, they'll be known as Jenny and Fleetwing.

Rock Island Hero Is Given Carnegie Medal

Pittsburgh, Jan. 29.—(AP)—A Rock Island, Ill., machinist who fought a strong Mississippi river current and the drag of soaked clothing to rescue a 13-year-old boy was awarded a bronze medal by the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission last night.

George W. Fox, 28, saved the life of John M. White who on July 31, 1941, waded beyond his depth at Rock Island and was pulled by the current 75 feet from the bank into water 12 feet deep.

Though hampered by his wet clothing, Fox swam to the body, turned him on his back and started to ward shore. White's father reached them and towed them until they could touch bottom. Fox was exhausted and had to be helped ashore.

RELEASE FLOW OF LIVER BILE

And You May Enjoy Life More—Sleep Sounder, Awake Refreshed—Ready for a Good Day's Work.

Normally your liver should discharge about a quart of precious digestion-aiding juices every 24 hours. A scanty flow—a slowing up may mean Sick Headaches, so-called Biliousness, Poor Digestion with that "half sick" depressed feeling.
Stir yourself! Probably all you need is a gentle excitant: take half a teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts (a famous blend of six salts) in three-quarters of a glass of hot or cold water every morning, half an hour before breakfast. Don't miss a morning. This simple sensible prescription that has worked wonders for thousands should do the same for you. Try Kruschen—a famous English formula—for 30 days to shake off that "run down" feeling and get a real "lift." Keep it up for 30 days. You must feel 100% better, or your money back.

Weekly Food and Marketing Letter by Mrs. George Thurn for Dixon Telegraph Readers

What packages are most welcome at Army posts and Naval bases? Service men have been looking their gifts right in the face and they don't mind telling you what remembrances make a hit. Here is the result of a camp-wide survey:

If it is a general gift package, make it practical: "What we need are things we have to buy out of that $21 or $31 a month," say the boys; if the choice is food, make it cookies, not an assortment of sweets that may get mashed or stale in the mail.

"A Cookie for Your Rookie." That slogan is echoing from coast to coast, as mothers and sweethearts discover that the perpetual, persistent demand of the marching men is cookies—wholesome, home-made cookies that can be carried conveniently and munched at intervals when that hungry feeling hits. Cookies win the camp vote, snowing under such fireside favorites as candy and cake. For a soldier boy will tell you that any cake is an upside-down cake after it has wrestled its way through the mails.

Now that the votes are counted, comes the question, "What kind of cookies?" Men like substantial cookies, cookies they can bite into, cookies full of flavor, fruit and nuts. Even at home, the boys never did enthuse over the dainty, tea-type wafers, and obviously they are not practical for mailing. This outlaws the thin-sliced "ice-box" cookies, since they reach journey's end in crumbs.

Drop cookies are easy to make; pleasantly plump, they are good travelers. Select your recipe with an eye to ingredients that hold moisture. Be generous with fruits and fruit juices, nuts and honey. The quality of the shortening also has an important relation to moisture; choose a pure, bland shortening that creams smoothly and readily.

Incidentally, honey, molasses and maple syrup not only fit into the conservation picture, but they yield a baked product high in flavor and wholesome appeal. Most honey cookies are improved by "ripening" for two weeks and therefore are splendid to ship. Always use low temperatures in baking with honey.

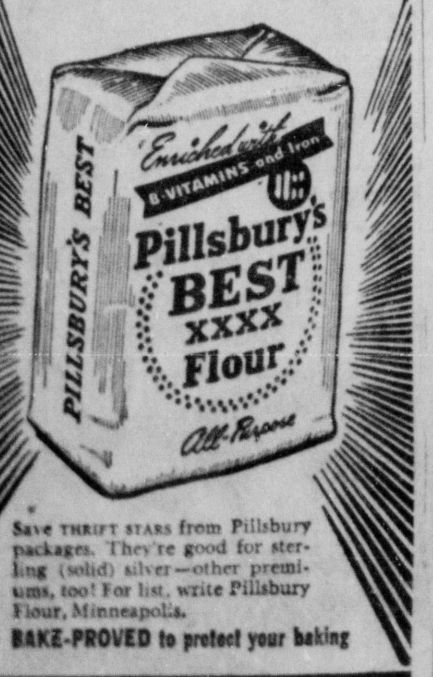

When it comes to contributing moisture and flavor, mash bananas rate ahead of raisins, dates and nuts. Developed especially for the cookie-hungry rookie is a grand combination of mashed bananas, rolled oats and nuts. Here are vitamins and goodness plus. Available the year round, bananas are economical, too. Be sure to clip the recipe for Banana Oatmeal Cookies, which appears with this column. Try it today.

How to make Pillsbury's Southern Butter-Pecan Pie Your husband's favorite (from now on)

Complete recipe:

1. Sift and measure 1 c. Enriched Pillsbury's Best Flour; add $\frac{1}{4}$ tsp. baking powder (optional) and $\frac{1}{2}$ tsp. salt; sift together. (Two B-vitamins and iron are added to Pillsbury's Best, with no change in flavor, color, or baking quality.) 2. Cut in $\frac{1}{2}$ c. shortening until size of small peas. 3. Add 2 to 3 Tbsp. cold water gradually until dough is moist enough to hold together. Chill. 4. Roll out to about $\frac{1}{8}$ in. thickness. Fold pastry over, place loosely in 9-in. pie pan; flute edge. 5. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) 15 min. (The tender flakiness of Pillsbury's pie crust is a credit to your judgment in choosing Pillsbury's Best, the BAKED-PROVEN flour. Every single hour during milling, samples are tested for creaminess, uniform color, and 4 to 6 times a day actual baking tests are made. That's why Pillsbury's Best gives you baking quality that never fails!) 6. Fill the Pillsbury pie crust with the following FILLING: 7. Combine 7 Tbsp. Pillsbury's Best Flour and $\frac{1}{4}$ tsp. salt in top of double boiler. Add 2 c. scalded milk gradually; stir constantly. 7. Combine 1 c. firmly packed brown sugar and 4 Tbsp. butter; cook over low heat until thick and bubbly. 8. Add to hot milk; place over boiling water; cook until thick and smooth (15 min.). Stir occasionally. 9. Add a little hot filling to 3 egg yolks, slightly beaten; mix well. Return to hot mixture; cook about 2 min. longer. Cool. Add 1 tsp. vanilla and $\frac{1}{2}$ c. toasted chopped pecans. 10. Turn into baked shell. Chill thoroughly. Top with sweetened whipped cream and pecans. Get Pillsbury's Best from your grocer today—and try this luscious Southern Butter-Pecan Pie tonight!

and you will paste it in the book as a standby. Put the cookies in the school lunchbox, serve them for dessert with fruit or pudding, or send them away to camp.

Tips on Mailing
Now for some tips on mailing, for all the good ingredients, the time and the effort are wasted unless the cookies are packed properly. Plump cookies need not be wrapped individually, although that promotes 100 per cent freshness and transportation. Place waxed paper between each layer, and stuff any extra space in the box or tin with loose paper. Large cracker tins make excellent carriers; fasten them with adhesive tape.

No writing is permitted inside parcel post, so mail that letter or greeting note separately. Wrap the box in heavy paper, tie securely with strong string and print your own name and address in the upper left-hand corner. Give full details of the service man's address, i. e.,

To: Rank and Name; Company; Outfit; Name of Camp; Location; State. (Write each on a separate line.)

Practical Gift Packages
Post-office authorities estimate that some 1,000,000 pieces of mail are being delivered daily to service men. As already remarked, men want practical, every-day gifts. Among helpful suggestions introduced this winter are ready-packed gift boxes that include the items that Army and Navy officials and the boys themselves say are wanted. Contents in a large box of 24 items range from tooth brushes to "blitz" cloths (polishing cloths to you.) Smaller boxes have been assembled, too.

These gift assortments, which have been pouring out to service men for the last two months, were aptly termed "Oodle Boxes" by an Army Colonel who saw one. The name has stuck, and now an "Oodle Box" is the handy kit that holds the service man's soap, comb, mending kit, adhesive bandages and other daily necessities. Standard size units of many useful articles have been made available through co-operative arrangements that make it possible to send service men these welcome assortments for a modest sum.

Whether you send a service man oodles of home-made cookies or an "oodle" kit, he will applaud the gift that is fruitful and thoughtful. Here is the promised recipe:

Banana Oatmeal Cookies
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cups sifted flour,
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon soda,
1 teaspoon salt,
 $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon nutmeg,
 $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon cinnamon,
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup shortening,
1 cup sugar,
1 egg,
1 cup mashed bananas*
(2 to 3 bananas),
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cups rolled oats,
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup chopped nuts,
*Use fully ripe or all-yellow bananas.

Sift together flour, soda, salt and spices. Cream shortening well. Add sugar gradually and continue creaming until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat well. Add bananas, rolled oats and nut meats and mix thoroughly. Add flour mixture and blend. Drop by teaspoonfuls on ungreased cookie pans about $\frac{1}{2}$ inches apart. Bake about 15 minutes in moderately hot oven 400 degrees F. or until cookies are done. Remove from pans at once. Yields about $\frac{3}{4}$ dozen cookies.

Watch the weekly column for delicious, easy-to-make cookie recipes that will fit into your welcome boxes.

Seven Convicted Second Time of Pipeline Bombing

Decatur, Ill., Jan. 29—(AP) — Seven defendants, including five union officials, were convicted by a Circuit court jury last night of a second charge in connection with an oil pipeline bombing near here in February, 1940.

The conviction, returned after the jury deliberated about 10 hours, was on a charge of malicious mischief and carried a mandatory sentence of one to 10 years in the penitentiary.

Defense attorneys asked retrial and a hearing on the motion was set for Feb. 12.

Last November all defendants were convicted of conspiracy in connection with the same bombing, fined amounts varying from $1,000 to $2,000 and given prison sentences ranging from one to five years.

The defendants were George Diehl, East St. Louis, and George L. Bruns, Granite City, accused by State's Attorney Ivan Hutchens of the actual bombing; S. C. Lorton, East St. Louis, business agent for the boilermakers union; Harry E. Meisenheimer, business agent of the Decatur Hod Carriers; Edwin Roy, Melvin Watkins and Cecil Wilson, all of the Decatur union executive board.

The state's attorney charged funds for the bombing were approved by the executive board of the Decatur Common Laborers Union, which was seeking a union shop on the Texas Empire Pipeline Company's line running from the Salem oil field to the East Chicago refineries.

1 cup lukewarm milk 1 tablespoon shortening
2 teaspoons sugar ½ cake Fleischmann's Yeast
1½ teaspoons salt 2½ cups sifted flour
Scald milk, add sugar, salt and shortening; cool to lukewarm. Crumble in yeast and stir until dissolved. Knead flour, or enough to make an easily handled dough. Knead dough quickly and lightly until it is smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl, cover and set in warm place, free from draft. Let rise until doubled in bulk, about 1½ hours. Shape small portions of dough into balls, flatten slightly, brush sides with melted shortening and place close together in 8-inch layer cake pan. Let rise until light. Place pan on rack in pan of boiling water, cover pan and steam 15 minutes. Be sure the water does not come up over dough and keep water boiling vigorously. Makes 20.

Fleischmann's is the only yeast which will be used in Cooking School demonstrations next week. The Fresh Yeast—with the yellow label.

Dixon Dukes Lead Conference Race; Leeper Also High

Dixon Frosh - Sophomore Squad Also Tops in Loop Standings

Dixon's Dukes are now holding down first place in both divisions of the North Central Illinois conference. The trimming taken by both Sterling teams at Dixon last weekend made it possible for the Dukes to pass the Golden Warriors.

Sterling remains in the runner-up position in the frosh-soph division, but is in third place in the varsity division with Princeton as the runner-up.

Individual scoring honors for the conference was dropped by Capt. Troie of Sterling and as a result of the Dixon game, as Leeper, Dixon forward, went wild and counted enough points to place him on top. Wedberg of De Kalb is in third place.

This weekend Dixon plays at Mendota, in the only conference game. De Kalb is at Belvidere in a non-conference contest and Princeton does not go to Sterling until next Monday night. The postponement of the Princeton game was made necessary as Princeton is playing in the Bureau county tournament.

Conference standings:

Ralph (Pest) Welch Is U. Washington Coach
Seattle, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Coach Ralph (Pest) Welch, the big fellow who was fired as University of Washington freshman football coach in December and rehired in January as head man, will concentrate on the fundamental rock-um and jolt-um system of play.

"Blocking and tackling are the two big words in my football book," responded the former Purdue All-American back to the question of what style of offense his Washington varsity would use next fall.

But the man who was elevated yesterday to the job left vacant by the dismissal of Coach Jimmy Phelan added:

"I have a lot of ideas I have been anxious to try out. There will be some changes made in our attack."

Welch has been schooled for more than a decade and a half in the Notre Dame style, under Phelan as a Purdue back and for 12 seasons as Phelan's assistant at Washington.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR. (Wide World Sports Columnist)

New York, Jan. 29.—(Wide World)—Jackie Conn, Billy's kid brother, is about to start a ring comeback at the ripe old age of 19. He has been working on a farm and reports he is packing 198 pounds of muscle—which makes us wonder whether it would be better for Billy to become a farm hand or to teach Jackie to fight.

Couple of Oregon colleges are going to try putting the basketball officials in crows' nests behind the backboards and giving them loud speakers to explain their whistle tooting. Linesmen, who won't be on the court, will call out-of-bounds.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR—John Mooney, Salt Lake Telegram: "Since athletics are falling in line magnificently with the defense bond and stamp buying program, why wouldn't it be the patriotic attitude for some of those propagating institutions to pay off their athletes in bonds and stamps instead of scholarships and tuitions?"

Marshall Wayne, who won the Olympic diving championship in Berlin, is a lieutenant in the Third Photographic Squadron. He says he hopes to dive on Berlin next time from something higher than a 33-foot tower. Joe Guyon, Jr., former Catholic U. grinner and son of the old Carlisle star, is about to become the first American Indian to fly for the U. S. Navy.

HOT STOVE WARMUP—Judge Landis has asked Pacific Coast League officials for the files on the case of expectorating Eddie Mayo vs. Umpire Ray Snider, which was supposed to have been settled when Mayo was restored to good standing.

Jack Zeller says if Dick Wakefield can hit, he'll have a job with the Tigers but Piedmont League scribes wonder if Jack and Del Baker won't weaken when they see Dick try to field a ground ball. When Lol Boudreau was in Cleveland for the Jeff Heath dinner, he ducked the brass hats and collected a bunch of the players for a barbershop session in his room.

Ted Gullic writes Milwaukee club bosses that he had a "disappointing" hunting season. He bagged only 401 pheasants instead of the usual 500. Just like a ball player—complaining about his average.

LOOKING AHEAD—While an injured elbow has kept him from taking an active part in the current pro tennis tour, Frank Kovacs has been riding the truck that hauls the troupe's equipment and occasionally lending a hand at driving it. Wonder if he's in training for a steady job when the trip ends?

Lincoln Lanes Mixed Doubles Played Monday
Twenty-six bowlers joined in the mixed doubles event at the Lincoln Lanes alleys Monday evening. Mrs. Charles Finley and James Scanlon led the field with a total of 1113 pins; Mrs. Phil Hopkins and Bob Cottle being second with 1075, while Mrs. K. Haller and Charles Finley rolled a total of 1058 for third honors. Other scores rolled in the doubles event were as follows:

Miss Betty Moran-Joe Miller, 1035; Miss L. Branson-H. Chambers, 1023; Mrs. Lou Miller-W. Williams, 1018; Mrs. B. Emmert-A. McBride, 1052; Miss H. Frazier-D. Mercer, 932; Miss T. Ensmole-M. Melvin, 1035; Miss H. Meeks-J. Fahl, 1005; Miss M. Wilson-P. Hopkins, 1009; Mrs. E. McBride-K. Haller, 1008.

CIO WINS ELECTION
Peoria, Ill., Jan. 29.—(AP)—The United Farm Equipment Workers of America, a CIO affiliate, won a majority in a run off election yesterday at the Caterpillar Tractor Company to determine a collective bargaining agent. Martin Wagner, of the National Labor Relations Board, announced. The CIO unit received 5,814 votes out of a total of 10,832 cast. The American Federation of Labor union received 4,886 votes.

New York Giants' Boss Still Terry

New York, Jan. 29.—(AP)—For some reason there continues to exist a semi-secret about who is running the New York Giants.

To clear up the confusion, therefore, it may be well to state that the top man is a certain William (The Terrible) Terry, even though he himself says he doesn't know what his job is.

Early in December Terry moved out of the managership and into the front office of the Giants. At first it was announced that he would be general manager and then this title was modified to general manager of the farm system. But Terry is much more than that.

He arrived in town yesterday for conferences with President Horace Stoneham and Manager Mel Ott and held a huddle with his old friends, the New York baseball writers.

Worked Mize Deal
Someone asked if signing the Giants' players were a part of Terry's task and he answered:

"Use your own judgment." This led right smack into the question of what were Terry's duties and the inevitable sniggle:

He disclosed, however, that it was he who negotiated the deal for First Baseman Johnny Mize of the Cardinals and that it was he who had talked to Mize recently by phone and ordered him to Hot Springs, Ark., to thaw off some weight.

"Mize told me his shoulder was all right," said Terry. He also disclosed that he had an agreement with the Cardinals that he could return the big slugger if his shoulder kept him from playing.

Baseball's Great Hitters Honored
Boston, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The specter of the highest batting average of all time hung today over the crowns of baseball's two greatest hitters of 1941.

Boston baseball writers at their annual dinner last night paid tribute to Joe DiMaggio of the New York Yankees, who hit safely in 56 consecutive games, and to Ted Williams, the Boston Red Sox star who batted .406.

The highlight of the evening was the writers' presentation of a gold wrist watch to little Hugh Duffy, the 73-year-old wonder who bled in 1894 set the never-threatened batting mark of .438.

Another wrist watch went to a second Hugh—Private Hugh Mulcahy, erstwhile mound toiler for the Philadelphia Phillies, first of the modern crop of players to enter the armed forces.

DiMaggio received the Paul Shannon trophy as the performer of baseball's outstanding feat of the year. The Jake Morse trophy presented to Boston's most valuable player, was awarded, in absentia, to Williams.

Heber "Dick" Newsome, Red Sox pitcher who won 19 games last year, won a trophy as Boston's outstanding rookie of the year.

Illinois State Normal Five Takes All Foes
By The Associated Press
Illinois State Normal continues to sweep aside all opposition in its bid for a fourth consecutive Illinois Intercollegiate Conference basketball crown.

The Red Birds got a scare at Charleston last night, but finally overcame the Eastern Illinois Teachers, 60 to 54. Eastern had held John Scott, State Normal's conference scoring leader, without a point in the first half. It was State Normal's fourth straight league win.

Illinois Wesleyan, an Illinois College Conference member, rallied in the last half to defeat Eureka, a non-conference foe, 50 to 41, after trailing at half time, 20 to 14.

Tonight's basketball action for the state will be supplied by two service teams, Scott Field playing at Chanute Field.

Rio Meet Reaches Triumphant Finish

Hemisphere Solidarity Affirmed; Old Border Dispute Settled

Rio De Janeiro, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Western hemisphere solidarity was affirmed unanimously and Peru and Ecuador agreed to settle their 111-year-old boundary dispute in a triumphant windup of the Pan American conference today.

The conclusion came in post-conference meditation of the Peruvian-Ecuadorian differences several hours after foreign ministers of the 21 American republics had formally adjourned their two-week sessions.

Major fruits of the conference were contained in 41 resolutions—inscribed in English, French, Spanish and Portuguese—recommending the severance of relations with the axis, setting up joint military, economic and financial boards and otherwise covering virtually the entire field of Pan American relations.

Ecuador was signed up as the 21st to endorse them. Her delegation had insisted on settlement of the boundary dispute as a prerequisite.

This was accomplished at a gathering of Foreign Minister Julio Tobar Donoso of Ecuador, Foreign Minister Dr. Alfredo Solf Muro of Peru and mediating representatives of Argentina, Brazil, Chile and the United States.

Tobar Donoso, although describing the border proposals as "an immense sacrifice for Ecuador", finally signed the pact with Peru.

Dr. Solf Muro said he was satisfied with the agreement.

Both Nations Yielded
Both nations yielded some claims in the area of roughly 125,000 square miles of mountainous jungle land, agreeing upon the status quo of 1936.

It was stipulated that the agreement was guaranteed by the mediator countries.

Only Argentina, Chile and Ecuador had not formally severed relations with Germany, Italy and Japan when the conference adjourned.

Banking and financial experts of the republics are to meet in Washington soon to set up uniform procedure for control of the funds of axis nationals and firms and decide upon methods to establish a hemisphere currency stabilization fund.

Plan Defense Board
Military and naval officers of the republics are to form an inter-American defense board which will work in collaboration with the United States general staff. Economic committees were delegated to seek means of maintaining commercial equilibrium of the hemisphere when peace comes.

"Economic mobilization" of basic defense materials was ordered.

Provision was made for the establishment of a seven member committee to coordinate and correlate joint efforts of the republics to control subversive activities.

Illinois Commerce Commission Hears Plea of Railroads

Chicago, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The Illinois Commerce Commission was expected to announce today action on a petition for 10 per cent higher passenger fares for railroads.

Twenty-five railroads joined in the petition, filed yesterday, which asked permission to put new intrastate rates into effect at midnight, Feb. 9, when the increased fares for interstate trips become effective. The roads asked for a waiver of the statutory provision calling for a 30 day notice of such action.

A spokesman said the commission would announce one of several possible actions: denial, approval, setting a date for a hearing or requiring that the 30 day notice provision be followed.

The railroads contended they had entered into agreements to increase workers' wages, effective Dec. 1, 1941, amounting to about $311,711,000 a year; that there were increases not covered by the agreement estimated at more than $20,000,000 a year; that their estimated costs for carrying out precautionary measures to safeguard properties as recommended by the war department would be about $30,000,000 and that there were other war-time expenses.

The roads said that throughout the state "the suburban traffic should bear its proportion of these increases."

Report Governor Is Asked to Let Cullinane Remain

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 29—(AP)—While Illinois Democrats speculate over whether Mayor Kelly of Chicago will run for the senate, Republicans have a political question of their own to ponder.

"It is: Will Governor Green call for a special election this year of a clerk of the state Supreme court, a post now held by a Democratic appointee of the court?"

Many GOP hopefuls would like to know the answer, but Governor Green in recent months has said only that he is "considering" whether there should be a special election in connection with this year's regular primary and election for senator, state treasurer, congressman-at-large and superintendent of public instruction.

Edward F. Cullinane of Havana was appointed by the Supreme court as clerk pro tempore following the death in 1940 of Adam S. Bloch, Chicago Democrat. Cullinane was Bloch's chief deputy. The term of the $7,500 a year office runs until 1944.

Several factors have centered Republican interest on the governor's decision. One is a widely-circulated although unofficial report that at least some members of the supreme court have conveyed to Green the hope that Cullinane would be retained as clerk, without a special election.

About a week remains in which Green could issue a special election call, officials said. They expressed belief such a call might be issued up to Feb. 7, the date on which filing begins by candidates in the April 14 primary. The filing period ends Feb. 23.

Commissioner Hunter Sees No Shortage of Farm Labor This Year

Chicago, Jan. 29—(AP)—Commissioner Howard O. Hunter of the National Works Project Administration is convinced there will be no farm labor shortage this summer in Illinois or other Plains States of the nation's principal farm producing area.

Hunter, who conferred with administrators from 13 states, said at a press conference yesterday that although many youths had left farms to enter military service, the farmers were protected by the selective service act as well as an available supply of labor coming from industrial plants because of the conversion of peace-time industries to a war production basis.

The conversion process, he said, would affect from two to two-and-a-half million workers, creating an important problem to the WPA. He estimated Illinois' unemployment during the period of conversion at 60,000.

Duties Assigned to Members Dixon Legion Auxiliary

Volunteer for civilian defense work. Work with the Red Cross. Care for the war's victims. Keep hearts high and confidence firm.

These are the duties assigned to every member of the American Legion Auxiliary in the war message of the Auxiliary's national president, received today by Mrs. Rae Arnold, president of the Dixon unit of the Auxiliary.

The message, from Mrs. Mark W. Murrill, national president, said:

"To speedily effect the utilization of our energies, I hereby urge every member of the American Legion Auxiliary to register at once with her local office of Civilian Defense, volunteering for whatever tasks she is capable of doing.

"I also urge that the Auxiliary's cooperation with the American Red Cross be expanded and intensified. Let every Auxiliary member give every available hour to the work of this great organization, which is so vitally needed now.

"I am calling upon all members of the Auxiliary to carry forward the work of mercy and relief which we have conducted so long for the disabled and dependents of the first World War, extending it to the victims of this new conflict. Let our sympathy and aid pour out to those who are in suffering and bereavement.

"Above all, let us keep our hearts high and our confidence firm. Let us set an example of calm courage and willing sacrifice that will be a light of inspiration for America in this dark hour. By our spirit, as well as by our endeavors, we can help win victory for America."

Mobile Hospital Unit Purchase of a mobile hospital unit for the American Red Cross by the American Legion Auxiliary has been announced by Mrs. Joseph Tusha, rehabilitation chairman of the local Auxiliary unit. The purchase was made with rehabilitation funds of national organization and the mobile unit will be placed in service wherever it is most needed in the United States. The unit is a one-ton truck completely equipped for blood collection work. Manned by Red Cross doctors and nurses, it will visit smaller communities to collect blood for the "blood banks" of the Army and Navy. It can also be used for first aid work.

An avalanche of enrollments in the American Legion Auxiliary came from wives, mothers, sisters and daughters of the men who fought the first World War, immediately following the attack of the dictators on the United States, Miss Lucile Montgomery, membership chairman of Dixon unit, has been informed.

Enrollment reports from every part of the country flooded in at national headquarters in Indianapolis in the days after the attack, growing swiftly to a deluge which swamped the headquarters staff. Desks were piled high with uncounted memberships as still more arrived in every mail. The 1941 total of 523,000 members was rapidly being eclipsed.

"The women are enrolling for active service against the enemies of America," said Mrs. Mark W. Murrill, national president. "There will be a place for everyone of them in the work of the Auxiliary. We have served America for twenty years, but we have just begun to serve. Trained and ready, the Auxiliary is the first line of the women's defense forces. We have half a million seasoned
